

IMPORTANT MEASURES KILLED BY SHERMAN

Republican Leader Filibusters In Senate and Money To Handle Railroads Is Denied Government

(By Associated Press).
Washington, March 4—With a republican filibuster out of control and the President reiterating his determination not to call an extra session before his return from France, Congress went into the final hours of the long war session today.

Senator Sherman in the Senate began a speech which he declared would continue until adjournment to kill the general deficiency bill with $750,000,000 for the railroad administration, without which, some administration leaders said, the railroads will be almost immediately returned to private ownership.

While Senator Sherman was speaking, Senator Jones asked unanimous consent to present a favorable report on the woman suffrage resolution but Sherman refused to yield.

Then Senator Gore insisted the Senate act on the proposal to order demobilization of all drafted soldiers in this country within 30 days, but at noon Congress adjourned in the midst of the filibuster with Gore's proposal and a long list of important measures killed.

Aside from the general deficiency bill, the big bills that failed included the army and navy measure. The only two important measures which have the gauntlet were the Victory Liberty Loan and the billion dollar wheat guarantee bill, both of which the President signed.

There was no further action on Lodge's resolution signed by many republican members of the Senate, opposing the League of Nations in its present form.

The death of the general deficiency measure with the railroad appropriation brought forth no definite sign of the President's plan for dealing with railroads immediately although many Senate leaders advise the President to return the roads immediately to private ownership, it being considered that by the middle of April present funds for railroads will be exhausted.

publican Senate filibuster, President Wilson issued a statement declaring "a group of men in the Senate deliberately chose to embarrass the administration of the government, and to imperil the financial interests of the railway systems of the country."

The President asserted it is plainly his duty to attend the peace conference, and also his duty to be in close touch with public business during a session of Congress, or an extra session which had refused to call and hoped the people would think his choice right. Republican leader Lodge refused to comment on the President's statement.

Appointments Fail

Washington, March 4—Inability to secure an executive session of the Senate because of the republican filibuster, caused a failure of scores of nominations, including A. Mitchell Palmer to be Attorney General, Comptroller of the Currency and scores of postmasters. Other official recess appointments will be made.

Wilson Starts To Paris Again

Washington, March 4—President Wilson started on his return to Paris today with Mrs. Wilson. They left on a special train at 2 o'clock for New York where he will deliver an address tonight. He sails tomorrow with no definite promise of the attitude of the next Senate on the League of Nations.

Tobacco Market Falls Off

Tobacco prices were 50 per cent under the usual market when the market opened here Monday. Low grade stuff was practically a drug on the market, some selling as low as two cents a pound, which earlier in the season was selling at 16 cents a pound. There were about 75,000 or 100,000 pounds on the market Monday. Good tobacco, of the best grades, sold up to 66 cents a pound, but the quality had to be high to bring that figure. The tag end market here is in keeping with the price level that is ruling over the state with the tobacco markets about ready to close.

Harvey Helm's Funeral At Stanford Wednesday

The funeral of Congressman Harvey Helm, who died in Mississippi Sunday night, will be held at Stanford Lincoln county, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The burial will be quiet, no Congressional committee nor the Masons of which he was a member, taking part. There will be a few brief remarks at the grave by Rev. P. L. Bruce, of the Stanford Presbyterian church.

Accompanied by his widow, Mrs. Helm, and Messrs. F. N. Gerhart and W. T. Williams, of Columbus, Miss., the remains of the deceased Congressman arrived in Stanford Monday night, and were taken to the Hotel Acey, where they were view by hundreds of his host of friends.

Influenza followed by acute infection caused the death of Mr. Helm, while in Mississippi inspecting a large plantation he had recently purchased near Columbus.

Bolsheviki Push Allies Back

(By Associated Press)

Archangel, Monday, March 3—The Bolsheviki continue to push their offensive against the American and allied troops on the front 160 miles south of here. Reports to headquarters here say the allies have evacuated Vevievskaya. The Bolsheviki in this territory outnumber the allies three to one. Apparently they have plenty of artillery which they are using vigorously.

Lost Baby Boy

Many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Juett are sympathizing with them in the loss of their little boy baby, Tandy Haggard, whose little soul took its flight Tuesday morning at a few minutes after eight o'clock. Tandy would have seen his second birthday the 11th day of this month, and was a bright sunbeam in his home. However, he heard the voice of the Master "Suffer little ones to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

AMERICA'S PART IN WORLD REBUILDING

Told By Dr. Homer Carpenter At Methodist Church, After Attending Atlanta Peace Convention.

Those who did not hear Dr. Homer W. Carpenter at the Methodist church last night, as the fourth number of the layman's lecture course, missed a rare treat. Fresh from the convention of the League to Enforce Peace, which he attended as a delegate from Kentucky, Dr. Carpenter gave his hearers inside information and a broad and comprehensive survey of world conditions which necessitate united action among the nations of the world, that its peace may not be jeopardized again. Speaking in part, Dr. Carpenter said:

Let me at the outset disavow any purpose of delivering a lecture, even if I could do such a thing. I covet rather the privilege of bringing to you a message, which, in such a group is of common, if not of compelling interest to all of us.

It is apparent to everyone that we are tonight, in the presence of an unprecedented world situation. It is also obvious that before the constructive forces of the world, there is the most stupendous task since time began. In the presence of these conditions, America is struggling to find herself and to determine her place in the rebuilding of the world.

Within less than half a dozen years we have seen the face of Europe broken in bits as if shattered by a mighty continent wide earthquake. The old Europe is gone—gone forever, with her secret alliances and her diplomatic bargaining for balance of power, but the new Europe is not yet formed. Chaos is everywhere. On the continent alone, seven new republics are in the agony of birth. Finland, Poland, the Baltic Provinces, Ukraine, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, all wait for their moulding. The Balkan boundaries must be determined, Constantinople must be internationalized, autonomy must be brought to Palestine, Syria, Armenia, the Caucasus, perhaps Arabia.

But not only Europe, the Orient has been shaken by mighty changes. Japan has taken her place as one of the five major powers of the world, and China waits, that she may come into her own. The western hemisphere has not escaped. While South America, with her twenty-one republics, has broken forever the autocratic ties with Europe, the United States, in that hour in which she entered the war, abandoned her age-long policy of aloofness from world affairs. Never again can our country be the same. Never again can we boast of our isolation. War has broken up forever our seclusion. America has been hurled into the midst of world activities. Our provincialism is gone—except perhaps in the United States Senate, and there it is on the way. This is the changed and turbulent world in the midst of which we find ourselves today.

In the presence of this situation America is trying to find herself, trying to determine the part that she will play in this mighty task of reordering the world. This is a matter which is of vital and immediate concern to every man who calls himself an American.

Of one thing we may be sure and it is this: As a people we are at the parting of the ways. A great choice must be made, and must be made now—a choice which involves not only the future of America but the future of the world. Two paths open to us, but there is no third. We must take one or the other. America may turn back to her traditional isolation, as the obstructionists in the United States Senate would have us do. She may draw again within her little shell and abandon the high purposes with which we went to war. She may repudiate the platform on which martyred millions gladly gave their lives, a platform which pleads for an internationalism that shall become the champion of equity and justice and of equal rights to all men the world over, the champion of the right against wrong, of the weak against the strong. America may turn her back upon that wilderness of white crosses in France and Flanders, may forget Chateau Thierry, Belleau Wood and Argonne Forest, she may say with Mr. Lodge, as he is reported, "we care nothing for the colonies of Africa," or with Mr. Borah, "I would not vote for a League of Nations, even if sanctioned by Christ himself." This is the one path that opens to America. But fortunately there is another. America may take the road that leads to a constructive internationalism, an internationalism that will tie up in a league of friendship all the great forces in the movement to saving the nation.

our world life that stand for human rights, and for mutual helpfulness and for a permanent peace; an internationalism that will concern itself not so much about conserving traditions or collecting revenues as about keeping alive those great ideals for which the war has been fought at such an appalling cost in human life. This is the other path. We must make our choice. And we must make it now. France waits. England waits; all Europe waits and the world waits for America to make her choice. Everywhere it is said, "Unless America is in the League of Nations there will be no league." And that means war and more war.

But what does this League of Nations propose? I suspect that ninety out of every one hundred Americans have not taken the trouble to read this document carefully, as it has come from the committee at Paris.

It must be confessed that couched in cumbersome diplomatic language, the old world it is rather tedious reading, but neither its provisions nor its purposes are difficult to understand.

The first purpose of the League of Nations is the prevention of war. Regarding the matter of war, there are certain definite covenants into which the nations of the League enter, the first of which is this: If two nations have differences which might ordinarily lead to war, they are under covenant, instead of going to war, to submit their case to a committee of arbitration, selected by the two nations, independently of the league. If a decision is rendered by this committee on arbitration the nations involved must abide by that decision. However, from the beginning the two nations may waive the privilege of arbitration and carry the case to the executive committee of the League, this executive committee being permanently made up of nine members—one each for England, France, America, Japan and Italy, and four members agreed upon by the smaller powers who may be members of the league. If contestants submit to this Council, its decision is binding.

The second covenant is that no member will begin war until three months after a decision has been rendered by a committee on arbitration or the executive council, which in most cases would be a year after the difficulty.

The third covenant is that, in case a nation refuses to refer difficulty to either arbitration or executive council, or having referred the matter to either of these, begins war before three months after decision, every nation in the league is required to cut off all relations with that nation, to withdraw ambassadors, to refuse food, raw material, and establish an economic boycott, and even to demand of nations adjacent to the offending nation to do the same, though these may not be members of the league. Having entered into this covenant, not the league, but each country in the league, through its congress or parliament upon being advised of the violation authorizes the boycott.

If the boycott does not do the work the league may suggest to each member thereof the number of soldiers, ships and amount of munitions which it thinks advisable to be used in a common movement upon the outlaw nation. Compliance with this suggestion is optional with each nation. The league cannot compel the furnishing of men or ships.

It will be seen, therefore, that two remedies are proposed to prevent war—arbitration and reference to executive council of the League, and two remedies to cure war—the boycott and the voluntary army of the league.

The second purpose of the league is the assistance of small nations toward self-determination, under the system called mandates. It proposes the development of territories as the German colonies of Africa, Armenia, or Arabia under the care of some appointed member of the league. It should be noted that the acceptance of a mandatory is entirely optional on the part of any member of the league. Reduced to their simplest terms, these are the two great purposes of the league in which we are most interested.

The question in America is what are we going to do about it? This is the choice which we are to make and in making it, we are determined which path we shall take. That Americans are divided on this issue no one can doubt. President Wilson is recognized throughout as the champion of the ideal of a league of nations, and said to be agreeable to the document as it is drawn. Back of him are the nations in conference at Paris. With President Wilson swings the nations, ex-President Taft, of the other great political party of America, and its greatest living representative, is leader of friendship all the great forces in the movement to saving the nation.

Youngster Charged With Robbing Valley View Man

Sheriff Pete Whitlock went to Lexington Monday and brought back Irvine Hendricks, an 18-year-old boy, who is charged with robbing Joseph Perkins, an aged farmer of the Valley View section. Mr. Perkins swore out a warrant against Hendricks Saturday, charging him with stealing $440 from him. Perkins said he had the money in an iron metal box, which three different locks on it, and he states that while he was at the barn feeding his stock and his wife was out milking the cows, young Hendricks slipped into the house and extricated the money from the box. When Perkins went into the house she missed the box and after searching the premises found it. It was still locked, she said, but when she unlocked it the money, which was in currency, was gone. Hendricks went to Lexington, where he was arrested. He was placed in jail here to await trial.

He declares that there are three great forces back in this country back of the President in his fight for the league—the man in the street, the laboring man, who among men suffers most from war, the churches with their message of the Prince of Peace, and the women, who have paid the heaviest price for the recent conflict.

On the other hand the fight against the league has centered in the United States Senate, in a small group of men who, for the most part are old line republicans. It happens that these are the men who have opposed most things that belong to a forward looking America. For the most part these are the men who opposed the President in war and now they oppose him in peace. I wonder if it can be said of them that they were the last in war, the last in peace, and, perhaps, will be the last in the hearts of their countrymen. At least one of the Senators, who has been so vigorously opposing the league, declined to hear the President in his personal statement on his return from the conference in Paris. Refused to be enlightened. I think this was the same, who on the issue of equal suffrage declared that he had made up his mind twenty years ago and had not changed it since. It is currently reported in Idaho that he has a presidential bee in his bonnet.

The contention that America's sovereignty is violated is without weight. If so, America's sovereignty has been violated in every treaty which she has made in a hundred years. It was violated in 1818 when we agreed with Canada that we would not put a fortification or warship on the 4,000 miles of border between us. It was violated by these very Senators when twenty of the Bryan treaties were signed, not to make war for a year. In the articles of the league, the nation's action is optional and co-operative. The plea that such action would be unconstitutional is an old story. The framers of the constitution themselves wisely made provision for its change by amendment. And if the making of a treaty with other nations is unconstitutional, then in every exercise of America's treaty making power, there has been violation. I think it was some of the Senators who said that it was unconstitutional for the President to go abroad, but he went and has come back and is going again. It is an old story.

The plea that it destroys the Monroe Doctrine is splendidly met in the fact that such a league would be the extension of the Monroe Doctrine throughout the world; the giving to the other of that which has blessed ourselves. Some changes have taken place in a hundred years. We have grown from four million to 110 million of people. America is now a world power and happens to be, in the thinking of some, the nation which God has raised up to pioneer this great idea of internationalism.

But America must make her choice as to which road to take. It is no hour to turn backward. Ten million voices call us from the graves of Europe to cast our weight against war. A score of helpless peoples call us for the continents of the world, ten million broken homes and as many turning soldiers call us to cast our weight against war. We cannot turn back. The gateway of the League of Nations is the only gateway that can lead to peace.

Important Action Taken

By Madison Physicians

At the last meeting of the Madison County Medical Society, February 26, the following resolutions were adopted:

Be it resolved: The doctors of Richmond and Madison county will not out sick benefit claims for an Industrial Insurance Company unless the company through its legally qualified agent, pays the doctor a fee of 50 cents for each claim made out.

Be it resolved: The doctors of Richmond and Madison County at each monthly meeting of the County Society furnish a list of names of parties for whom they have done practice, whose bills are unpaid and no effort to pay bill for 12 months or more; the names of such parties be listed as no good and a list furnished each doctor in county for reference so he may know when called whether the party is a dead beat or not.

To take effect at once.

Here is what Tracy Munson of

Hauk's "Tabloid" Plays To A Crowded House

After an interval of ten days, Miss Anna Belle Ward booked for a three night's engagement Hauk's Tabloid Shows, which gave their first performance at the Opera House last evening to a crowded house. This company is owned by Mr. Arthur Hauk, who appeared in Richmond in one of his three attractions several weeks ago. The company presented Dan Collins, comedian, one who kept his audience laughing from the time he came on the stage as an overgrown school boy, until the last scene. Mr.
Ross Lewis, manager of the show, simply made the accordion "talk" with popular and ragtime selections, and responded to a number of encores.
Fred Hawkins showed several new dancing steps, and recited in a very impressive way "The Black Sheep."
The chorus girls had good voices, and judging from the remarks of patrons
as they left the theatre, the S. R. O.
sign will be put out tonight.

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture
Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

I sent and bought Theodor's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Theodor's Black-Draught."

When the Baby Needs a Laxative---

No one knows better than the ever-watchful mother—the natural doctor of the family in all the small ills—that when the baby is out of sorts it is usually due to indigestion or constipation.

It is always well, in any of its illnesses, to look for this cause. The diet may have to be changed, but before good can result from it,
the bowels must be moved.

The mother has the choice of many medicines—cathartics, purgatives, bitter-waters, pills, physics, etc. But the little body doesn't need such harsh remedies for they wrench the system and do only temporary good; so often followed by an unpleasant reaction.

A better plan is to employ a mild, gentle laxative of which only a little is required.
There is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin that thousands of mothers have used successfully for baby's constipation and its accompaning ills, such as belching, wind colic, restlessness, sleeplessness, etc.

The nursing mother will also find it ideal for herself, and it is especially important that she be free from constipation.

Syrup Pepsin is guaranteed to do as promised or the druggist will refund the money.
Thousands of cautious families have it in the house, secure against the little ills.

TRACT No. 3—About 95 acres. Has a frame residence, outbuildings and an 8-acre tobacco barn. The waters of South Elkhorn touch this tract. Also has two young locust groves on it.

All of the above land is subject to survey. Very little of this land has been cultivated for the last two or three years and is now ready to raise big tobacco crops. Some virgin soil.

Situated very convenient to schools, churches, grocery store and blacksmith shop. Being within sight of the thriving little village of South Elkhorn.
All three of these tracts join. After being offered separately, will be offered as a whole, which ever realizes the most money will be accepted.

Terms very reasonable. Will be made known on day of sale. Possession will be given immediately.

Parties wishing to attend the sale can leave Richmond on the L. & A. R.
R. at 6:55 a. m. Thursday and get off at Nealon station which is just beyond Nicholasville. Conveyances will be at Nealon to take you to the sale.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.
Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.
You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

WORSE THAN DEADLY POISON GAS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. It attacks young and old alike. In most cases the victim is warned of the approaching danger. Nature fights back. Headache, indigestion, insomnia, lame back, lumbago, sciatica, rheumatism, pain in the joints and lower abdomen, difficulty in urinating, all are indication of trouble brewing in your kidneys.

When such symptoms appear you will almost certainly find quick relief in GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules.

This famous old remedy has stood the test for two hundred years in helping mankind to fight off disease. It is imported direct from the home laboratories in Holland, where it has helped to develop the Dutch into one of the sturdiest and healthiest races in the world, and it may be had at almost every drug store. Your money promptly refunded if it does not relieve you. Be sure to get the genuine GOLD MEDAL Brand, in sealed packages, three sizes.

Funeral of Shelby Jett, Sr.

The funeral services of Shelby M. Jett, Sr., were held at his late residence near Kirksville Tuesday morning. Services were conducted by Rev. D. H. Starna. The beautiful burial service of the Masonic lodge was also used. Mr. R. R. Burnam officiating as Master. The remains were followed to the Richmond cemetery by a large concourse of surviving relatives and friends. The floral offerings were beautiful, a very fitting tribute to the esteem in which the deceased was held by all who knew him.

In mention of the death of this splendid citizen, the Daily Register said he was survived by his wife and six sons, but in naming them, through a typographical error purely, omitted the name of his son, Charles H. Jett, one of the substantial and prominent farmers of this county.

A wire received by Mrs. G. H. Myers, Tuesday, states that Sergeant George H. Myers has been mustered out of the service at Camp Taylor and will be home in a few days.

FAIR VIEW

The Home of "Vatican," "Bermuda Girl" and famous "Nell" at Public Auction

ON WED., MAR. 19th

AT 10 O'CLOCK A. M.

ON THE PREMISES

I will offer for sale for James J. Neale, this fine farm of two hundred and two and one-half acres, situated on the Lexington pike, (Dixie Highway), about one and one-half miles from the city limits of Richmond, Madison county, Ky.

This farm is known all over the United States as the home of Vatican, the great sire, and Nell, the first mare to produce five trotters in the 2:10 class, including Bell-Vara with two world records to her credit; and Bermuda Girl, a Futurity winner in the nineties.

It is within one and one-half miles of Richmond, a city which has always been noted for its morality, its culture and its wealth. Educational facilities are unbounded—the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School, Madison Institute, and two large High Schools make it an educational center.

The farm faces on the Dixie Highway from the south side—the right side, because the prevailing winds are from the south and the dust always goes the other way, and the afternoon shade will all-ways be on the front porch.

ALL THIS LAND IS WELL WATERED WITH PONDS and SPRINGS

There is no better land in the Bluegrass, and real bluegrass will continue to go up for years, because it is limited in amount and is considered the most productive land in the world. Everybody wants a piece of bluegrass land. It is known all over the world. It will raise Corn, Tobacco, Hemp, Wheat, Oats, Rye, Truck Garden—anything that grows in moderate climate. It produces the Kentucky Thoroughbred, export cattle, fine hogs, sheep, and develops them to perfection.

I am going to sell this farm for the High Dollar, and if you want land, come and see this.

To See It Is to Want It

For the benefit of those who want a home and are unable to buy the whole tract, it will be offered in tracts, and then as a whole. Where will you ever again find a more beautiful place for a home than these small tracts?

The Four Tracts

TRACT No. 1—30 acres, unimproved, facing on Dixie Highway, a beautiful building site, adjoining the land of Mr. H. B. Hanger.

TRACT No. 2—30 acres, unimproved, facing the Dixie Highway, another beautiful building site, adjoining the above tract.

TRACT No. 3—60 acres upon which is located a tenant house, large barn with silo, which can be used for either stock or tobacco barn. This tract is between Tract No. 2 and Tract No. 4 and has an excellent building site for a dwelling on the Dixie Highway.

TRACT No. 4—82½ acres upon which is situated an excellent modern dwelling, with water and lighting systems, all necessary outbuildings, 2 large barns, one with silo, can be used for either stock or tobacco, tenant house and everything essential for a good home. This tract faces the Dixie Highway and is bounded on the north by the Jack's Creek pike.

I have made many sales in Madison county, and I have never failed to sell any land I have offered.

This land is up for sale to the highest bidder and it is going to sell.

DON'T FORGET THE DATE—Wednesday, March 19th, 1919, at 10 A. M.

Terms will be announced on day of sale and will be liberal.

The "Honeymoon Limited" Coming

Chas. F. Yale, producer of the "Hawaiian Butterfly," "The Girl from McKay's" and other high class musical comedies, will offer the patrons of the Opera House next Friday night, his latest and greatest effort "The Honeymoon Limited." This production is regarded as one of the leaders of its kind in the class of musical extravaganzas. The company numbers 35 players comprising such principals as Patsy Conroy, Billie Bailus, Frank Cummings, Ben Norris, Tom Hays, Oee Hamilton, Bobbie Allen, the Misses Allbrights and Christine Lombard. From a fashion viewpoint, the "Honeymoon Limited" is declared to be a real pace maker. In the "Fashion Girl," number it is said that the models will wear $10,000 worth of gowns. The piece is in two acts and six scenes staged in gorgeous and spectacular manner, characteristic of Chas. F. Yale's offerings in other seasons. A lively chorus of Broadway blonde, brunette and Titian haired beauties is promised.

Look for Muncy Bros.'s announcement of their Big March Sale this week. Bargains for the household.
